Changing Regional and Language Settings in Windows

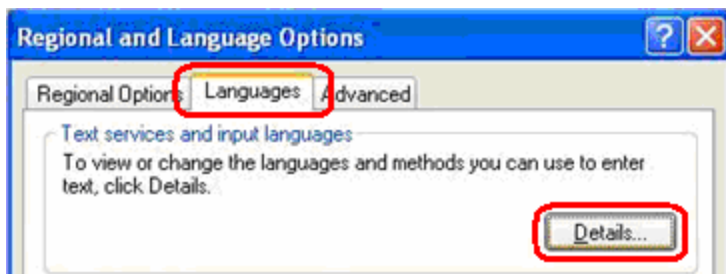

---

This tip sheet will show you how to add regional and language keyboard options in Windows to enable you to switch languages in EndNote.

Select Control Panel from your Start menu on the Windows desktop.

Select Regional and Language Options in the Control Panel.

Select the Languages tab.

Select the Details button.

Select the Add button.

Select your preferred language from the Input language pull-down menu.

Select OK to close this window after selecting your new input language.

You should now see your new language choice in the list of installed services.

Select Language Bar to set options for the Language Bar's behavior.

Check Show Language bar on the desktop to access your language keyboards in Windows programs.

Select OK repeatedly in the various windows until you have closed all Regional and Language setting windows.
